Astonishing Procedure

In extending the remission of succession duties on the estate of the late Premier William Aberhart the attorney-general's department points out that it is common practice to so remit death duties and that a "four-sided cabinet" is jammed with orders-in-council regarding remissions of succession duties and unpaid interest on the duties.

This explanation does not make the Aberhart remission any the less amazing. The revelation that remissions are regularly made merely sharpens the surprise of the taxpayer.

For after all, this money belongs to the taxpayer, not to the government. And if any remission is contemplated, that remission should be by the authority of the elected representatives of the public, not a department head nor even the cabinet.

It is true that these remissions are said to be afterwards ratified by the Legislature. But if the tax is already remitted, what is the use of either a post facto approval or a post facto objection?

It is true that other provinces have voted allowances to the wives and families of distinguished public men such as in the case of the widow of Sir Richard McBride in British Columbia. But these allowances have been made by the vote of legislatures, the representatives of the people, and in cases of new or retired members of the family of the late Premier Aberhart is in no such case. His family is adult and self-supporting. His estate of $80,173 is a substantial one.

The procedure, at best, is eminently astonishing.

A Magnificent Job

The Citizens' Volunteer Bureau (WVS), operating under the War Services Council, has carried out a magnificent job of the entire task of issuing the new ration coupons in Edmonton. This job will require the services of between 500 and 700 women, of whom, we believe, are already allotted to their duties.

This is the latest in a series of highly useful projects which the Volunteer Bureau has carried out with vigor and success.

The Bureau, through its well-organized Block System, has rendered invaluable assistance in the collection of ration coupons. It supplied workers for the issue of the last ration books and for the special rationing of the last ration books. It contributed to the success of the last rationing of the last ration books in the drive to sell War Savings Stamps.

In fact, no public project of recent months has been without the assistance of this admirable organization. And as a regular routine, volunteer workers are supplied to dozens of smaller war undertakings.

Now this business of organizing Edmonton citizens for war occupying a major place in the war effort, and with the war. With the arrival of peace, the Bureau will carry on with projects of community and social value.

The Citizens' Volunteer Bureau is doing a magnificent job. It has become a definite asset to Edmonton.

War Against Japan

If there has been any doubt that total war against Japan occupies a major place in the Quebec discussions, that doubt is dispelled by the emphasis placed on the subject by Brendan Bracken, British minister of information.

For Bracken has vigorously confirmed Mr. Churchill's promise of six weeks ago that British ships, planes and men would be directed in full force against the Japanese empire as soon as they are made available by the defeat of Hitler.

The information handed out by Mr. Bracken along this line was naturally not specific. But he said enough to indicate that the problem of Japan is becoming a major concern of the two leaders, and that Britain regards the Pacific war as completely her responsibility as it is that of the United States.

The military program for dealing with the Nazis is already complete. Only political uncertainties remain. The program for Japan is not so complete because it must be temporarily based on the premise that Russia will have no active part in it.

If, after Hitler, the Japanese empire is to join Britain and the United States in the same coalition against Japan, the program in the Far East would be greatly simplified, altered and shortened perhaps by years.

British and the United States forces, are prepared to do the job alone and are confident of being able to do it. But if Russia comes in, on base case to the heart of Japan's defense, the situation immediately and the Russian Far Eastern army, augmented from the West, could be met with the formidable and armies which Japan has massed in Manchuria and Korea.

Those armies are going to be difficult to handle even if they are sent to Burma and free the rest of China. Their strength is not definitely known, but according to Chinese sources, they constitute the greatest part of Japan's land strength in Asia.

Japanese strength in China is placed at about 30,000 men and 100,000 men. In Manchuria and Korea it is put at 39 of the best divisions, or perhaps 650,000 men.

This is quite possibly the potent factor that has impelled Russia to steer sharply away from war with Japan. The defeat of Hitler and the coming of a Russian descent in full force on Japan may put a different face on the matter for the Soviets.

War—An Education

It is reported that American troops working on northern fronts are offered 475 different educational courses through the co-operation of 75 colleges and universities in the United States.

Our own Canadian facilities for education through the term of war service is not so pretentious. But, as does the American practice, it shows that enlistment in the armed forces need not interrupt the systematic preparation of the young man or young woman for the business of living in the post-war world.

Indeed, it is difficult to think of any experience that fits the young person for intelligent living so completely as military service in one of the armed forces. War itself is an education. At least, the experience of war moves the youngster towards that maturity of heart and mind that are essential to the educational process.

It is true that the serviceman or servicewoman might not enjoy all the laboratory facilities of a great university. But their contacts with their fellows, under all sorts of conditions, are worth far more to them than the most exhaustive academic course.

Education is pre-eminently a spiritual process. It has to do with the refining of the instincts, the heart and the mind.

The sacrifices of war will frequently accomplish that refinement more quickly and thoroughly than any other method.

A great deal of nonsense has been talked about war unfitting young people for the business of living in the post-war world. Look, for instance, at the veterans of the last war.

It is true that the veterans of World War I were shamefully and disgracefully treated in a national way. But that does not alter the fact that the soundest, most intelligent and most capable of citizens in the 1920's were those who had served in Flanders and France.

Looking Backward

1893: 50 Years Ago

Major Lake has been appointed quartermaster-general of the Canadian militia. An exchange says an attempt was made a few days ago to shoot the late Premier, Mr. Macleod, supposedly by some one who was dissatisfied with his conduct as veterinary inspector.

Five hundred loaded trucks, and in mining centers generally in the United States, for the silver question, is intense. At Golden, Colorado, the situation was being in effect by free after enthusiasts.

Over the fact that older boys have given their route to last older boys, it has been necessary for the younger boys to take on these routes.

Having two boys with three routes between them and one boy with one route, I find they have quite a time making arrangements to go to the home of the boys live a long way from home and have had to make as many as seven calls on their home to collect twenty-five cents.

I am quite sure that some of these youngsters know this, they would only be too glad to make arrangements to go to the home of the boys live a long way from home and have had to make as many as seven calls on their home to collect twenty-five cents.

Another thing, I feel sure that there are many people who do not know that when going to the home of the boys live a long way from home and have had to make as many as seven calls on their home to collect twenty-five cents.

Why Was Stalin Not Invited to Quebec Conference?

British and Americans Not Yet Agreed on Attitude to Russia

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The conference between the American government and the British Prime Minister has been called "crucial" and its importance is revealed by the procedure, which is that of secret diplomacy secretly arrived at.

Since Casablanca, Mr. Churchill has been repeatedly hinted that the next important move would be to include a representative of the Soviet Union. Mr. Davies' statement seemed to indicate that the President announced in his press conference on the Far East.

But if merely military considerations were determining Stalin's move to appear, it was further explained that Stalin's relations with Japan were such that it would be impossible for him to attend the conference on the Far East.

There is an answer to these questions, there would be sense in a three-power conference. If we think the answer, there is no sense. For no one wants a conference that might break up in disagreement.

And there might be yet another danger—namely, that Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Churchill, might be nearer the Russian view of the situation than they are. It is necessary for the Anglo-American political leaders to reach complete agreement before they meet the Russians. That is clearly the purpose of the present conference.

The masses of the people in Europe have suffered and are suffering unbelievably, they have sacrificed practically everything that they have. And their war aims are not to recover a certain percentage of their property, but to lay the firm foundations for a real new life.

Mr. Churchill is apparently agreed about some of our plans. He revealed it in his speech following the Quebec conference. He has raised questions about the "Anglo-American" military and occupational administrations in enemy countries and in occupied areas. Mr. Churchill said explicitly that he doubted whether such arrangements would be made by the British and the Americans.

Valuable Experience Is Gained by Military Command

WASHINGTON—It took 12 days longer in the dust and heat of the Sicily campaign than it had been expected when the invasion began July 10. Yet the war was not a military disaster.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

JOHN OLIVER

IN RECENT years class teaching of piano and other branches of music not only has come into vogue, but has gained widespread popularity, and become recognized as an efficient and expeditious manner of imparting knowledge to students. While class teaching is not likely to replace private or individual instruction, yet it has undoubted advantages. Pupils for the teacher and 15 or 20 pupils, both of whom might not be able to afford lessons on the financial basis of individual payment, are able to take them by reason of the reduced rate made possible by class tuition. Also, many pupils who may feel reticent about taking private lessons, are spurred to interest and greater action by reason of having company, and through a desire to keep on even terms with or surpass others in the class. From the standpoint of the teacher there is opportunity of deriving remuneration over and above that coming from private classes, coupled with the possibilities of adding members of the class to the roster of those taking private lessons. Also it gives a greater variety of experience and a more profound insight into needs of teaching in general.

On account of the interest aroused

Talented

Cathryn Zender, well known singer and teacher. She took a prominent role in several Edmonton Civic Opera Society productions and at present is one of the teachers enrolled in the special piano-class instructional course being conducted at the Y.W.C.A. under the direction of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music.

ed, and being continued in piano class instruction and the possibility of extension of the sphere of its usefulness, the course is this form of instruction has been under way at the Y.W.C.A. under the aegis of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music, is of unusual interest. The course started last Monday and will continue until Aug. 28. J. S. Atkinson of Toronto, director and secretary of the bureau, has been unswerving in his efforts to promote music throughout the country, has come here to act in the classes, and to meet those interested in the work. He is an old friend of many Edmonton musicians. A veteran of the Great War of 1914-18, he has come west on several occasions, and always brings with him a fund of humorous anecdote and an abundant supply of good humor.

The course under way at the Y.W.C.A. is specially designed to point the way to teachers instructing in groups of eight pupils. In the Public schools of this and other cities, the piano classes are carried on after school hours and provide instruction for two years or for the Grades 1 and 2 examinations.

When a pupil has passed beyond the scope of the two-year instruction, the Y.W.C.A. offers a private pupil. The present course is being conducted under the sponsorship of the Edmonton Public School Board, which has taken a lead in this form of tuition, and has expended $800 in providing chairs and tables of the same height as piano benches, and keyboards, which piano-class pupils may practice.

After an eight-year period in city schools, the pianoclasses are pronounced and emphatic success to the extent that the present course was instituted with a view to providing more teachers trained in the ways of imparting instruction in classes. This more pupils could be accommodated, Mr. Atkinson pointed out that hitherto it has been the policy of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music to hold such courses in each province. This year, due to the restrictions and limitations made necessary by the war, this policy has been modified. However, due to the intense interest in the piano-class movement here, it was decided to carry on with a course for Alberta, and this city was selected as the venue.

There are in attendance teachers-students from many sections of this province, with Calgary having several teachers present, and Carleton Place, the farthest-distant point represented. Instructor at the course is Miss Sheila Dicker of Liverpool. Mr. Atkinson paid a warm tribute to J. Norman Eagleson, supervisor of music in Edmonton schools, who is a local representative of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music who attended to the organization of the course, and was responsible for details in connection therewith. This, recalled Mr.

"Said he's tired of laying out his field equipment for inspection every Saturday."

Atkinson has been endorsed by all departments of education in Canada. Latest figures to hand are that there were 23,000 music students enrolled in the various public school piano classes last year. Of this number 220 were in Edmonton schools. In the course at present carrying on, there is a special selected class of eight children who are acting as subjects for teacher training and for observation of results attained.

"I am exceptionally well pleased with the results so far apparent from the present course," said Mr. Atkinson. "Throughout Canada the class pupils make rapid progress in their work and take high standing in the regular music examinations set by the associated Boards of the Royal Schools of Music, the Toronto Conservatory of Music, Trinity College and other institutions. Their progress has been so rapid that the present course has been shown that after the lessons last night, the D.T.C. and the D.S.C. Over 125 'Old Boys' are on active service and nearly all have gained their commissions. None have lost their lives."

Among the Edmonton teachers taking the course are Cathryn Zender, Mildred Child, Frances Lobbe, Irene Barthelemy, Mrs. D. S. McEwen and Mrs. Gordon Hansen while among those taking a refreshment course are Mrs. David Airth, Mrs. Mary Burk, Mrs. Gloria H. Brown, a Spencer, Carden, Helen Barbour, Irene Cudde, Rimby, and others.

School Enjoys Fine Reputation For Efficiency

In the 14 years since its opening, Ravenscourt a boarding and country day school for boys on the banks of the Red River in Fort Garry, Winnipeg, has established itself in permanent and distinguished place in the educational life of the West.

The names of its pupils appear high in the honor rolls of the university and community. Donald MacKenzie and Alan Johnson were awarded the Manitoba scholarship to Queen's University. Roy Cameron, Jack Coyne, a former Ravenscourt boy, was awarded the last Bowdler Scholarship before war began. Two "Old Boys" have been awarded the D.T.C. and the D.S.C. Over 125 "Old Boys" are on active service and nearly all have gained their commissions. None have lost their lives.

This summer out of a large number of candidates for entry to the Royal Naval College at Royal Roads, British Columbia, were awarded. Four of these were Ravenscourt boys, and of these, three were "Old Boys" and one was a current student.

CHARACTER MOULDED

The character of a young man is moulded in the belief of its founders, that the chief purpose of education is not to impart information, but to encourage the full development of all sides of his personality. The school is un-denominational, but scripture study constitutes an important part of the curriculum. There is a daily chapel service.

The school buildings are up-to-date, with accommodation, equipment and teaching facilities providing everything that parents and pupils could desire for the well-being of the first generation in Western Canada and its eight acres of ground provide playing fields and facilities for summer and winter games and athletics.

The present headmaster is P. H. A. Wykes, B.A. of Balliol College, Oxford, and the school is excellently staffed in every branch of its work.

Crofton House Offers Varied Series Courses

Crofton House, the first private school to be accredited by the British Columbia department of education, has just completed one year in its new home, where the wide lawns surrounded by sheltering trees have proved an ideal setting for the sports for which Crofton House is famous.

For scholarships to the school of the 26 girls, each of the 26 girls received was received when Daina Edwards, a former Croftonian, crowded a brilliant university career in sciences and mathematics by winning the government-general gold medal in the 1943 graduating class of the University of British Columbia.

In the well-equipped laboratory many girls are getting a thorough grounding in science, while in the new library, which is rapidly becoming the power-house of the school, girls are being trained not only to read but to use books intelligently for their own independent studies.

Music and art play an important part in the life of the school. Pupils are prepared for all grades of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and of the 26 girls, each of the 26 girls received was received when Daina Edwards, a former Croftonian, crowded a brilliant university career in sciences and mathematics by winning the government-general gold medal in the 1943 graduating class of the University of British Columbia.

Set Up Commission On Art Treasures

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Establishment of an American commission for the protection and salvage of artistic and historic monuments in Europe, under the chairmanship of Justice Owen J. Roberts, was announced yesterday.

Recovery of art objects from Axis countries, who have appropriated them and among the functions of the commission.

The commission will formulate a program with similar groups in other countries.

When men of the Army Service Corps meet enemy opposition, they flash into action like "Indian fighters" in covered wagon days. (See illustration above). The

Each member of the Corps is trained to handle his truck or a gun with equal ease; to operate radio equipment, to find his way through strange country by map, by compass, or by the sun and stars. In spite of mud, sand, mines, bombs—these soldiers drive onward with their precious cargoes. Of such men, General Montgomery has said: "They always deliver the goods."

In THE SAME WAY that a prize fighter depends on his legs, a modern assault depends on the speed and skill of the Army Service Corps. Day and night, with danger in the air, under foot and on every side, these fighter-drivers carry troops, ammunition, food, fuel, water and other supplies from base to battle line.

two lead trucks swing into a road-blocking "V" while fighting men scramble from the "protective vehicle" (Number 3 in a convoy) and pour hot lead from rifles, Brens, sub machine guns, anti-tank or anti-aircraft weapons. With the enemy pinned down, the remaining drivers turn their lorries "on a dime"—and swing around to find some way, any way to deliver the stuff with which victories are made.

Into each of the thousands of military vehicles which roll away from Ford of Canada assembly lines goes the finest work of skilled automotive specialists. The rugged, powerful vehicles are made and tested with the most exacting care—because Ford of Canada workers are determined these Canadian-built machines will distinguish themselves under fire in the expert hands of the fighting Army Service Corps.

"Canadian Industry must keep open a direct line of communication with the world's battlefield—in Canadian equipment will continue to increase in battle-worthiness as it increases in quantity."

Within the ancient walls of Quebec's historic Citadel, summer residence of Canada's Governor General, the heads of Great Britain, Canada and the United States sat in conference today with their combined chiefs of staff. In the afternoon they came out on the terrace overlooking the St. Lawrence to pose for photographs and newswear cameramen.

President Roosevelt, left, sat beside the Earl of Athlone, Governor General of Canada, while behind them stood Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Concerned about the safety of photographers who climbed up on the parapet to make their pictures, Mr. King and Mr. Churchill warned them several times not to slip and fall off.

Sports Meet At Red Deer

RED DEER—A large number of competitors took part in the second annual sports day recently held by No. 36 Service Flying Training School, Royal Air Force, Pembroke, at the Red Deer Exhibition grounds. Competition was keen and some good times and distances were recorded and save for a shower late in the afternoon, the weather was fine.

In addition to the track and field events there were two horse races which created considerable interest. The Red Deer Khomen Club operated pari-mutuel on the races and cleared about $20 for their Milk for Britain Fund. Fil. J. H. E. R. U.S. Army Threatens To Take Over Plant Producing Aircraft

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Truman war-potential investigation committee and the army air forces told the Wright Aeronautical Corporation in effect yesterday to get into quality and quantity production at its huge plant in Dearborn, Mich., or the army would take over the factory, Senator Harry R.

"ME TOO!"

"When I see a parade of those girls of the Forces go by . . . boy, it gives me a thrill!"

"I'm doing just an ordinary kind of a job I suppose, but those girls are doing something really important. No wonder they look so proud . . . and how smart their uniforms are! I guess it's time I joined them."

When you enlist, you step into a job that is actually waiting for you. Women are needed. They are urgently needed in the Navy, Army and Air Force, in vital jobs for which they are specially suited.

It's just as much a responsibility for women to do the things they can do as it is for the men to go and fight.

Edmonton Gains Widespread Prominence As Industrial Centre

Much has been said and written in Edmonton regarding military activity in the north—of huge enterprises which have flung oil lines, telephone wires, and bridges across key routes of the sub-Arctic.

But what of industrial activity at home? Military officers have said that for every man in the front line there are 18 behind. The same is true of the northland's development. Edmonton, always busy making goods and supplying them to the hinterland of Northern Alberta, has expanded. Now it is making goods not only for old customers, but for the civilian and military armies that reach right up to Alaska.

Besides manufacturing and supplying material for the armed services, the defence projects, and the new industries "down north," there is the civilian population requiring attention. Ten thousand civilians have flocked to the city to men new war industries, for office staffs, and new buildings. In addition to Edmonton's static population, they must be fed, clothed and sheltered.

And here it is that city factories have done memorable work. Despite staff depletions, swamping orders for supplies, restricted flow of raw materials, the goods have been produced. Plants have worked late at night, all night, sometimes for weeks on end, filling unbroken orders. They and their staffs will be among heroes of the war, for without munitions, food, clothing, no army can fight.

New industry has come to Edmonton, too. Aircraft are being repaired here, in a factory as modern as anywhere. Airlines are shutting craft up and down the reaches of Alberta and British Columbia. Communications have expanded, and flung out thin wires to areas almost beyond the beyond.

After the war, much of this new activity will remain, and more will take the place of plants no longer required to turn out munitions of war. For every war factory that closes down when peace comes, three will open up to make the equipment for a new world, in which Edmonton will be an important centre a hub of activities that extend from the Gulf of Mexico to the once-grim and now conquered Arctic.

On this page are scenes of activity in Edmonton factories, busy bringing the war to a world of war. The Edmonton Bulletin here pictures a small part of the work being done. It is but a fleeting glimpse of the post-war activity to be entered into.

At the moment the outlook for football in Edmonton this fall is far from encouraging and unless something definitely can be accomplished within the next few days, this city may experience its first gridiron autumn for many years.

The junior league definitely is out and so far there is no sign on the horizon to indicate that the city is organizing another effort to take its place.

Varsity's Golden Bears are reported as being potential starters and there is little doubt but that "Mr. Depot," winner of the provincial junior crown last year, could be persuaded to come in.

There are also a few juniors ranging to go along with high school players and a scattering of veterans who might be inclined into donning the red and white skins in such an emergency could be persuaded into another endeavor.

If an entry could be secured from the U.S. Army there is little question but that a league could be successfully put across. And doubtless there are dozens of experienced and enthusiastic gridironers on duty here who would be glad of an opportunity to participate.

From the standpoint of an attraction, too, such a league would have a definite appeal only to local citizens, but to our visitors as well.

HERE AND THERE . . .

Chinooks vs. Walk-Rites

Provincial Fastball Title at Stake Tonight

CALGARY CHINOOKS are scheduled to play Edmonton Walk-Rites in the second game of their series for the Alberta senior girls' fastball title. This game from the diamond start took the first by a 4-3 score on their home ground last week-end.

Tonight's game will start at 7:15 and the same teams will meet again tomorrow afternoon at 2:15. The winner of the series will represent Alberta in the inter-provincial playoffs in defense of the championship of western Canada.

In spite of the fact that the team dropped the first of the series, Coach Murray Sanderson appeared confident that his team would win. Walk-Rites could take the next two games and retain their western title.

The Walk-Rites coach also stated that as a result of their performance in Calgary last week, Varsity players, especially, and Minnie Wilson, catcher, had been recommended to the provincial and league. It is also understood that the names of Betty Carver and Elise Vaughan, pitchers, have been mentioned.

Two of the Calgary girls, Renaud and Marie Wilson, are expected to be started for the game tomorrow.

Convent and Brantford will be competing "pitchers" while Minnie and Marie Wilson doing the respective relieving for Walk-Rites and Chinooks.

"Greatest Race Horse of All Time"

Another Man O' War? Never, Say Those Who Saw Big Red

BY NED BROWN

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Man O' War generally is considered the greatest race horse of all time. Certainly, Big Red was the finest of modern times.

Man O' War was a tremendous horse, stood 15 hands. His lowest racing weight was 1000 pounds. Powerful and long-striding, he actually ran away from the field. Symbol of turf superiority for nearly a quarter of a century, his record as a producer of champions is as pronounced as his record on the track. He sired 22 stakes winners and 100 other horses worth more than $2,000.

GREAT APPETITE
Man O' War was a gourmand. Louis Foulet, his trainer, said a bit in his mouth to keep him from bolting his food. He consumed 12 quarts of oats a day, 12½ on day he raced, three more than the average thoroughbred.

Seven colts passed forward to succeed Man O' War by the title. They made him 1 to 2 in his seventh start, although at 130 he was conceding 15 pounds to the aptly named Upset, which was held 8 to 5.

There were no starting gates in those days. Had there been starting gates, you never would have heard of Man O' War. He would have won any contraption like a starting gate.

Old Mrs. Cassidy was in C. E. Bergin's place, replacing him in the starting stand.

Upset finally got into his stride going down the backstretch. Man O' War quickly picked up the lead and was still five lengths off Golden Breeze and pocketed between the others going around the turn.

It wasn't till then that Johnny Longworth, who had been in the field, Golden Breeze charged it. He felt from the wire Man O' War was a half length ahead of the field. As the pair passed across the finish line, he was at Upset's throat. To him, he would have been in front.

Man O' War went on winning race after race regardless of distance. He was the one who set the pace, breaking the horses' hearts. In six years he had only one competitor. On May 4, 1919, Chicago's Belmont Stakes was put up by $100,000. Big Red prevailed by 20 lengths.

RACE WITH JOHN P. REAR

Winners Gain Title Series Playoff Bye

WALK-RITES clinched first place and a bye into the final in the Senior Girls' Fastball League playoffs when they defeated Army and Navy (Pats) 2-0 at Kingsway Park on Friday night.

The Pats will now play Aircraft Repair to decide who enters the final. The series will be a best of three and will start Friday night at 7 o'clock.

Walk-Rites made their margin of victory secure in the second inning. They came close to scoring in the first inning when Dolly Brown doubled to left and went to third when Mary Royce was retired at first. Vic Panko laid down a bunt but Helen Johnson did not score. Jean Beatty struck out and Marion McNeill filed to Mary Meyer to end the inning.

Jean Barton filed out to start the second inning. Minnie Wilson was safe second when she tried to steal. She was out at first. Symbol of turf superiority for nearly a quarter of a century, his record as a producer of champions is as pronounced as his record on the track.

He sired 22 stakes winners and 100 other horses worth more than $2,000. Seven colts passed forward to succeed Man O' War by the title. They made him 1 to 2 in his seventh start, although at 130 he was conceding 15 pounds to the aptly named Upset, which was held 8 to 5.

There were no starting gates in those days. Had there been starting gates, you never would have heard of Man O' War. He would have won any contraption like a starting gate.

Old Mrs. Cassidy was in C. E. Bergin's place, replacing him in the starting stand.

Upset finally got into his stride going down the backstretch. Man O' War quickly picked up the lead and was still five lengths off Golden Breeze and pocketed between the others going around the turn.

It wasn't till then that Johnny Longworth, who had been in the field, Golden Breeze charged it. He felt from the wire Man O' War was a half length ahead of the field. As the pair passed across the finish line, he was at Upset's throat. To him, he would have been in front.

Man O' War went on winning race after race regardless of distance. He was the one who set the pace, breaking the horses' hearts. In six years he had only one competitor. On May 4, 1919, Chicago's Belmont Stakes was put up by $100,000. Big Red prevailed by 20 lengths.

Ruffin Easily Beats Shans In 10-Round Go in Garden

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP)—In spite of a lackadaisical performance Bobby Ruffin had too much reach and boxing skill for Cleo Shans, the stumpy Los Angeles Negro, and won an easy 10-round decision last night in Madison Square Garden. Ruffin scaled 133; Shans 134½.

Although Shans, a late substitution for Sal Barrio, was the aggressor, Ruffin was back-peddling most of the way. The Long Island lightweight was rarely in trouble and seemed to be fighting only when and as much as he had to in taking the feature event of the card. Garden fight show closed at 11:30 p.m.

Only in the fifth and sixth rounds, when Cleo contrasted with solid shots, did Ruffin step in and flail away.

The Associated Press score card gave Ruffin seven rounds, called him the winner and gave him one. One of Cleo's best was the seventh, which he was awarded on referee's opinion. Ruffin retained his title for a low blow.

A slim crowd of $104, which slipped in a fee of $15,000, rattled around in the Eighth Avenue sports palace to welcome the return of boxing for the first time since a summer cruise moved out.

Tippy Larkin, the Garfield, N.J., lightweight finally broke his Garfield losing Harry Teague of Cleveland a fancy boxing lesson for 10 rounds to take a decision in another feature bout. Larkin scaled 128½; Teague, 125½.

The Hamilton girls team also visited Toronto and in a game featuring a pitchers duel lasting 23 innings, the visitors won 1-0. Some comment has arisen as to a new rule that says games should be played when they are as long as a life, and the game replaced some other date.

'M' Depot Wins 11-0 Over U.S. Air Force

The second half of the fastball doubleheader played at Kingsway Park last night "M" Depot made John Fulbright's final pitching effort in Edmonton a winning one by getting the range on Paul Lueky in the late innings and defeating U.S. Army Air Force 11-0.

Extra base hits were the order of the evening with Norm Lee, Creer Hall, Kermit, and Brock and Bill Le Roux of "M" Depot and Bill Wingert of the Americans getting credit.

Fulbright was in very good form and limited the Americans to two hits, a single by Johnson in the fourth and a double by Wingert in the seventh. The Depot pitcher also won his work in a businesslike manner and to save of the seven innings struck out two American batters. Lueky retired six as flies.

The U.S. Army Air Force were out of their best in the field and their seven errors combined with six passed balls by Creer, three hits by Lueky and 15 hits made out the collection of 21 runs for the Depot.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—The Chicago Cubs were named a segment of the Wm. Field Maestriano Award given to a player Bill Nicholson's hitting eye and batting style. Bill is a color commentator.

Native that elaborate misadventure on August 21, 1941, when the Cubs' clean-up infield and "lead" player, had driven in only 10 runs in 121 tries in the plate, and club was leading in last place. His batting improvement since then has been professional-grade. He has gone on to fifth place and has been a great pitcher, at all times, the other from western Chicago. The first division at the expense of the Dodgers.

SALUTE TO CANADA'S WOMANHOOD

C.W.A.C.
ANNIVERSARY
August
23rd to 29th

It is my belief that a new and better way of life
 Will emerge from the chaos
 Which now engulfs the world.
 You, the women, are the hope of Canada.
 From farms, factories, stores,
 Homes and offices you have come...
 Doing your devoted part in our effort to regain
 The threatened heritage of freedom.
 To the women of the C.W.A.C. I say:
 It was not easy to leave your loved ones,
 To depart from your homes, to don a uniform...
 Yet you have done it. You gloried in doing it.
 And your enlistment is the greatest contribution
 To Canada you could have made.
 You're right in the middle of the biggest task on earth!
 You're doing a magnificent job.
 And to you... the women who wear the uniform
 Of the C.W.A.C. I'm proud of you...
 Carry on!... until Victory is ours!
